The Story Of Peanuts, The Comic Strip, Not The Plant

"Your city is full of peanuts!" Now a statement like that might not sound altogether complimentary, unless you happened to be in the peanut-vending business.

Charles M. Schulz, the creator of "Peanuts," the comic strip being distributed by United Feature Syndicate Inc., which has won phenomenal popularity among readers of all ages and earned for Mr. Schulz such prizes as the 1956 "Cartoonist of the Year" Award of the National Cartoonist Society, the 1958 "Humorist of the Year" Award of the Yale Record, and many others. Peanuts starts Monday in the Ledger and Times.

Born in Minneapolis some 35 years ago, he can't remember a time when he didn't like to draw pictures. Sometime during grammar school he decided he wanted to be a cartoonist, and after graduating from high school he took a correspondence school course in art. With this basic training (and his natural talent) he was about to embark on his chosen career when World War II interfered. Entering the Army in February, 1943, he served as a machine-gun squad leader in France, Germany and Austria, before receiving his honorable discharge in February, 1946.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — There's a heap of gold to be dug on the professional fairways but these warm-up for the U. S. Open today will tell you that hamburgers and coffee usually precede the caviar and champagne.

The golfing gypsies play for a whale of a lot of money these days with $10,000 on the line in the big one Thursday through Saturday. And it looks like a license to steal when you figure that Art Wall won $33,800 during the first five months this year.

But what about the poor jokers who finish out of the money? Take Jimmy Demaret, the laughing boy you'd think never had a hungry moment in his whole rainbow career. Jimmy is "fat" in the wallet now with three Masters under his belt and a plush job at the ritzy Concord Hotel in Klamath Lake, N. Y., which permits him to sneer at the arduous task of qualifying for the Open.

Filled Bags With Oranges
But it wasn't always thus, he laughs. "One time I dropped my bags out the back window of a hotel because I couldn't pay my way loose. And there were times on those Florida courses, when we'd slice a ball into the orange groves, taking the out of bounds penalty to get in there and fill up the golf bag with oranges. Eating oranges."

Ben Hogan quit the tour twice out of financial necessity before he made it stick and Tommy Bolt, the defending U. S. Open champion, once broke down just as he ran out of gasoline money in a little town in North Carolina. He had to sell all the golf balls he had at 25 cents each to get a job at a driving range.

"When I hit the tour in 1947, I got to Houston and I didn't have a dime left," recalls Bob Toski. "We wired my brother for money and got a wire back in which he said, 'Please send me some, I'm broke too.' I borrowed enough to play and shot a 67 on the last round—from sheer hunger to win $255. From there on, things fortunately got better."

Won Marriage Money
Yet, when he wanted to get married in 1953, Toski's fiancée said she thought they should have at least $5,000 in the bank. "I've got it," Toski said, although he had "way less than that." So he went to Havana with his remaining capital, won the tournament there and got married on his $2,800 winnings.

"Today a lot of the young players get somebody to back them on the tour," says Jackie Burke. "But you can bet they aren't all going to be the great players on the pro tour, 'to do that, you have to start out hungry and I'm not using that as an expression. I mean belly hungry, man.'"

All of the great ones can tell you they were.

It's No Typographical Error When You See The Giants In First Place And They Did It All The Hard Way Friday Nite

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press International
Nope, it's no typographical error, it's really those unbelievable Giants right up there in first place.

They did it the hard way, too, coming from behind to beat the Braves, 4-3, in 10 innings Friday night and knock Milwaukee off the top rung for the first time since May 12.

You think New York went wild when Bobby Thompson's famous homer gave the Giants their "miracle" pennant in 1951? You should have seen how 22,984 San Francisco fans reacted when Jackie Brandt drove in the winning runs with his bases-loaded single in the 10th.

The frenzied fans leaped in the air, pounded each other on the back and threw thousands of seat covers in the air. The Giants still are a long way from home but the manner in which they won Friday night had the familiar stamp of a legitimate pennant winner.

Bruton Belts Homer
Milwaukee had gone ahead in the top of the 10th when Bill Bruton hit a 370-foot homer into the right field bleachers. But Willie Mays led off the bottom of the 10th with a walk and advanced to third on Orlando Cepeda's single.

6-4, in 11 innings, and the Chicago-Boston game was postponed by rain.

Vern Law of the Pirates batted a four-hitter and registered his seventh victory in snapping a three-game Cardinal winning streak. Home runs by Roman Mejias and Dick Groat featured an eight-hit attack that powered Pittsburgh to its third triumph in the last four games. Loser Dick Ricketts yielded both homers.

Duke Snider smashed a pair of homers, including one with two men on, in Los Angeles' victory over Cincinnati. The Dodgers routed Brooks Lawrence in the first inning when they scored five runs on six hits, including Snider's three-run wallop. It marked the first time the Duke belted two homers in one game since the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles. Roger Craig gave up only five hits, one of which was a home run by Frank Thomas.

Banks Collects 19th
Harry Anderson and Ed Bouchee, each of whom hit homers, drove in a total of five runs to help the Phils lick the Cubs. Anderson hit his homer with two on in a four-run first inning that routed loser Bob Anderson. Ernie Banks socked his 19th homer for the Cubs.

An error by shortstop Woodie Held and the fine relief pitching of rookie Jim Coates were principal factors in the Yankees' triumph over Cleveland. Held's error came in the last of the sixth after the Tribe had tied the score at 2-2. The miscue enabled Robby Richardson to advance to second from where he scored the winning run on Hank Bauer's single.

The third-place Orioles climbed to within one game of first place with their two victories over the A's, who now have lost seven in a row. Southpaw Billy O'Dell scattered four hits in the opener and was supported by a 10-hit attack that included homers by Gene Woodling and Billy Gardner.

Detroit's amazing Tigers crept within a game-and-a-half of first place with their extra-inning decision over the Senators. The Tigers tied the game in the ninth and then won it in the 11th when Coot Veal singled home the run that broke the tie. Washington built up a 4-1 lead with the aid of Harmon Killebrew's 24th homer and Faye Throneberry's fourth but starter Russ Kemmerer couldn't hold it.

For those who keep count, Killebrew now is two days ahead of Babe Ruth's record home run pace of 1927.

Much Bad Has Come From Cancer Work

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The scientific theory which has guided much of the total world effort to solve the cancer riddle for more than 50 years, "has resulted in no good thing, but in much that is bad."

This is no ordinary criticism because it is the criticism of Dr. Peyton Rous who, though he is largely unknown to the general public, is a grade-A international celebrity in cancer science.

Some of the "bad," he said, is that devotion to the theory has caused many scientists to conclude cancer is "inherent" in life itself and therefore can't be solved until the very secrets of life are solved.

"Here is fatalism to blast many a hope and effort," he continued. "Fortunately, the public now empowering large-scale attempts to cure cancer, are a hard-headed generation. They have learned the lesson of the antibiotics, substances transcending all medical preconceptions."

But "most serious" of the "bad" is the effect of the theory on scientific research workers. "It acts as a tranquilizer on those who believe in it," said Dr. Rous, "and this at a time when every worker should feel goaded now and again by his ignorance of what cancer is."

Woman's World

Lochie Landolt, Editor Phone PL 3-4707 or ID 6-3327

Most Theory Useful
The theory is the "somatic mutation hypothesis" and it should be understood that in science, theory is most useful. You take the known facts and from the way you relate them to one another, you try to get an idea of the nature of the unknown facts. When you get that idea, you have something to prove or disprove.

The most conspicuous fact about cancer is that cancerous cells arise somehow out of the normal cells which are called somatic or body cells to distinguish them from the germ cells which have the power to initiate new and independent life. Germ cells "mutate" or change and when it happens, their descendants can be freed of laws which governed the parents.

From this last fact, you can get the idea that somatic cells also mutate. When you add the fact that cancerous cells are outlaws when compared to the normal cells from which they originated, you have the "somatic mutation hypothesis." But the followers of this theory, Dr. Rous said, have yet to prove that the somatic cells of plants and of the lower forms of animal life do mutate and this of course, has given the more reason for faith in the theory. They have also proved that "hundreds" of chemical substances and outside conditions can start the cancerous process in human bodies, but they have yet to show that any of these set off "mutations" in normal somatic cells.

Blames Viruses
Dr. Rous, who will be 80 years old next October, is an adherent of the theory that viruses set off the cancer process. He proved beyond any quibble that a certain type of cancer of chickens is caused by a particular virus. That cancer is now called the "Rous Virus Sarcoma." It is the basis of his celebrity in science, although he has made many more contributions.

Since his discovery, a number of other vital cancers has been proved to be viral in origin. However, these animal facts are the basis of the theory that viruses cause human cancers.

If so, Dr. Rous' reference to the "hard-headed" public is learned from the antibiotics. The antibiotics cure diseases caused by bacteria which once were considered incurable, as cancer still is. From this fact a theory can be developed that it would be possible to deal with human cancer viruses if they exist just as effectively.

Dr. Rous, a native of Baltimore, has been affiliated with the Rockefeller Institute since 1929. He attacked the "somatic mutation theory" in the technical journal, "Nature."

The Story...

editor explained in a front-page story, "Our switchboard lit up like a Christmas tree. With all the phones ringing, it sounded like a Chinese temple at New Year's. We stopped the presses—just like in the movies—and got 'Peanuts' back into the paper."

Mr. and Mrs. Schulz now have five real-life "peanuts" of their own; three girls — Meredith, 8, Amy Louise, 2, and Jill Marie, born last April (1958) — and two boys — Charles Jr., 7, Craig, 6. Friends of the family are sometimes inclined to see the Schulz children depicted as characters in the strip.

"It's not quite that easy," Mr. Schulz says. "Occasionally I do use an actual incident or an apt remark as the basis for a strip. But mostly I think the characters in the strip have their own individual personalities, that are just as real to me as those of my own children."

When the growing real-life family outgrew the house in Minneapolis in the spring of 1958, the Schulzes packed up and moved westward, to a larger, comfortably rambling home in Sebastopol, California. There, in a studio separated from the main house by enough distance to insure reasonably uninterrupted working hours, Mr. Schulz follows his long-established practice of starting his day's work as close to 6:30 a.m. as possible. He averages about eight hours work a day, he says; sometimes when ideas come fast, he turns out two or three strips in that time, and sometimes — but rarely — he discards everything because it doesn't meet his exacting standards.

How does he feel about the very satisfying success of his little brain-children? "I'm one of the luckiest people I know," he says. "All my life, I wanted to draw a comic strip — and now I'm doing it, and people seem to like it. I can't imagine anything I'd rather do more than what I'm doing."

SCHROEDER

Schroeder is a lover of classical music, firmly believing that Beethoven was the greatest man who ever lived. He is a pianist, a slave to his art as he tortures Beethoven out of his tiny instrument. Schroeder, one of a generation ahead of its time, is the butt of many a joke in PEANUTS, a comic strip appearing in the Ledger and Times beginning next Monday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual vision. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	2 Corinthians	29	26-37
Monday	Revelation	27	6-21
Tuesday	Leviticus	14	1-20
Wednesday	Leviticus	19	1-14
Thursday	Numbers	29	1-14
Friday	2 Kings	11	1-14
Saturday	2 Kings	11	17-18

When I walk out of my front door, it always gives me a good feeling to see the spire of the church down the street.

A church spire makes you look upward. You have an irresistible urge to gaze at its highest point. It is a lofty symbol, the physical manifestation of an ideal.

Sometimes, when I step through my front door, my thoughts are on the "down" side. Then I look toward the church, my eyes travel to the sky, and I feel better, no matter what my troubles.

Next time you're near a church — try it and see. Better still, try going inside.
